

L. W. ROGERS' FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Well Known Grocer Died Sunday at His Home, 350 West Peachtree

Luther Woodman Rogers, one of the city's leading business men and head of the Rogers grocery stores, died at his home at 350 West Peachtree street Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock, after an illness of several weeks.

The following gentlemen have been selected to act as pallbearers: R. J. Brown, J. S. Burges, L. D. Sweeney, H. B. Avery, C. H. Ivy and S. W. Allen. Mr. Rogers was fifty-eight years of age. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. L. W. Rogers, and one daughter, Mrs. L. W. Rogers.

After stopping first in Washington, D. C., and then in other southern cities, Mr. Rogers continued his way southward, and died in Atlanta in 1912. He was established in the first Rogers store at 116 Whitehall street, and the stock represented about the entire $200 which was Mr. Rogers' capital at the time.

Under his personal management, the business of the first store grew, now, until at the time of his death Mr. Rogers was head of one of the largest chains of grocery stores in the country, including forty-seven stores in Atlanta and the number of others in nearby towns. Until his last illness, which began only a few weeks ago, he continued the active head of the business which he had built from such modest beginnings.

DR. D'ALVIGNY'S DAUGHTER DIES IN BALTIMORE, MD.

The many friends of Dr. Charles D'Alvigny, a well-known Confederate surgeon and citizen of Atlanta, will regret to learn of the death of his oldest daughter, Mrs. J. A. McCullough, of Greenville, S. C., which occurred Sunday afternoon at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore.

The funeral and interment will take place Tuesday afternoon in Greenville.

COUPLE WED IN JUNE; KEEP SECRET 'TIL JULY

MR. AND MRS. FRED MCJENKINS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McJenkins, married June 17, but kept it secret from parents until Independence Day.

A new kind of Fourth of July bomb was exploded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Toney this month, manufactured by Dan Cupid and extensively used, not only on such patriotic occasions as Independence Day, but at most any old time and season.

The bomb was the announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Toney, to Mr. Fred McJenkins, of Atlanta, and while it came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Toney, hearty congratulations followed.

The young couple, it seems, had been quietly wedded on June 17 at the Walter Street Baptist church, with only Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hall, minister-in-law and brother-in-law of the groom, and a few intimate friends present.

The glorious Fourth was deemed a fitting occasion to announce the surprise wedding.

Mrs. D'Alvigny was with Mrs. McCullough in Baltimore, and Dr. D'Alvigny left Monday morning to attend the funeral.

MRS. L. A. DOROUGH DIES AT HER HOME IN ROYSTON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) ROYSTON, Ga., July 20.—Mrs. L. A. Dorough died here at the home of her son, Luther W. Dorough, Sunday night.

Mrs. Dorough was a lady of fine literary attainments and a most contributory to the press. She was the mother of Glen Dorough, Franklin county's representative in the legislature. Other sons are Walter and Eugene Dorough, both in the legislature, and one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Dyer, of Royston.

WARSHIP FLORIDA'S MEN ARE GIVEN SHORE LEAVE

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, July 20.—Officers and crew of the battleship Florida, who took a leading part in the first day's fighting at the taking of Vera Cruz, today are enjoying their first vacation in several months. The Florida arrived at the New York navy yard yesterday and took her place alongside her sister ship, the Utah, for a general overhauling. She left Vera Cruz a week ago today and averaged twenty knots up the coast.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE

BUREAU BILLS PASSED

House Approves Measure to Aid Lawmakers by Vote of 118 to 13

The house of representatives on Monday passed a bill to establish a legislative reference department in connection with the state library and passed a bill creating a state board of bar examiners.

The former was introduced by Representative H. H. Campbell, and was passed with only a few dissenting votes, the merit of the bill making a strong appeal. At the present time there is no department of the library which provides immediate and exact information to members of the legislature for their use in making laws. This lack is supplied by Mr. H. H. Campbell.

The "barber" bill was introduced by the Fulton county delegation, including R. B. Blackburn, H. C. Cochran and John J. Smith, and had the strong support of the bar association. It is similar to laws which have been in force in numerous other states for many years, and is designed to protect patrons of barbers from communicable diseases and from unclean instruments and linen.

These two bills occupied practically all of the house's time on Monday, the session convening at 10 o'clock and adjourning at 11 o'clock.

On Tuesday morning the house will resume debate on the bill to abolish the office of solicitor general and create in its place the office of county prosecutor.

The house also approved a bill to amend the act relating to the appointment of judges of the superior court.

DISPATCH FROM SHREVEPORT. Following is the dispatch from Shreveport:

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) "SHREVEPORT, La., July 20.—It was reported here today that an acquaintance recognized Mrs. Elsie Dwyer, missing from Atlanta in a boat recently. The authorities are investigating."

A passenger conductor on the "Manassah Dodger," operating between Shreveport and Mansfield, on the Kansas City Southern railroad, declares he is positive that he had for a passenger in June last Mrs. Elsie Dwyer, the Atlanta woman who wrote her mother that she intended to kill her sister, Beatrice Nelms, and then commit suicide.

The conductor says that two weeks ago his train at the union station in Shreveport, left it at Mansfield and took a train for Natchitoches, on the heart of the river parish all day. To one of the women, he said, he paid little attention, but there was something in the face of the other that impressed him and he noticed her particularly. When he saw a reproduction of the photograph of Mrs. Dwyer, he declared he recognized it as that of his passenger.

If Mrs. Dwyer is really a passenger to see the docks and securities from him, Nelms, as the conductor believes, she would have to return to Mansfield to get a Kansas City Southern train, or drive six and a half miles across country to a lake house and Pacific train, as the road connecting Mansfield and Natchitoches ends at the latter place.

INQUIRY ABOUT CLOTHING. Chief Heavers received still another report Monday, though he would not say where it came from. In his mail came an inquiry as to the clothing the Nelms sisters wore when they were seen last. Enclosed with the inquiry was a clipping from a paper in this city, said the chief, of pictures and descriptions of the sisters.

The report from Portland, Oregon, on Monday, July 13, stated that two young women in that city fitted the descriptions of the Nelms sisters. The details as to their clothing to finish his identification.

Dwyer described her as a woman past middle age, of aristocratic appearance, wearing a display of jewelry. She inserted into the conversation an occasional remark on politics, said Mrs. Dwyer.

Aside from corroborating Judge Lewis' remarks, Mrs. Dwyer's statements are interesting because they show a change of heart in the woman who was once known as the "Killer of the Nelms Sisters."

BILL TO REDUCE THE DOUBLE TAX OFFERED

Senate Accepts Invitation to Attend Barbecue at Athens Saturday

Aimed at the reduction of the present "double tax" in cases of mortgages, a bill introduced by Senator McCall, of the Twenty-second, will be passed by the Senate Monday.

Under the existing law, mortgages are taxed 5 mills on each dollar; also, the mortgagor land is taxed 5 mills on each dollar of value, thus making the "double tax" for one piece of property.

Senator McCall's bill would change the tax on mortgages and the other papers named to 1 mill on the dollar.

A house bill introduced by Messrs. Garlington, Olive and Piquet, authorizing all cities to acquire by simple title to lands condemned for purposes of flood protection by paying the value of the land, was passed by the Senate by vote of 28 to 2. This bill is to give the cities the right to better protect themselves against floods of the Savannah river.

The rules committee of the Senate introduced resolutions, which were passed by the Senate Monday by a vote of 28 to 2. This bill is to give the cities the right to better protect themselves against floods of the Savannah river.
